

It is self-evident that students and instructors:

- treat each other with mutual courtesy and respect, which is the basis for open and constructive discussions.
- discriminate against no one based on their gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, physical handicaps, age, cultural origin, religion or world view.
- actively intervene when someone acts contrary to these principles.
- are open to well justified criticism.
- refrain from all forms of verbal or sexual harassment.

Adhering to this Code of Conduct is obligatory for all parties: Students and lecturers as well as those involved in administrative and organizational tasks.
